Corporate finance and asset management

Following a major acquisition, a Japanese food manufacturer required the acquired assets to be verified and reconciled with the fixed asset register and for this data to be incorporated within their asset management programme.

The work

A detailed inspection of the two UK manufacturing facilities was performed. Based upon this work and electronic data matching two data sets were provided; reconciled and unreconciled assets with the respective book values. Assets were then added or deleted from the asset register to provide a clean set of accurate data.

Bar coded asset tags, linked to the fixed asset register, were fixed to each asset.

The outcome

The new business was able to incorporate accurate book values into their opening balance sheet and align this information with the operational asset management systems to ensure accurate future records and reporting.
